Going Out of Business

[From the New York Tribune]

W[illegible] strongly impressed that Tweed & Company meditate an early retirement from politics otherwise th[illegible] systematic [illegible] from the [illegible] up th[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] is the candidate for Mayor [illegible] Hall [illegible] publication of the [illegible] very [illegible] when he ran [illegible] coming again and beating the regular [illegible] candidate. The Ring [illegible] him with buying up till he had beaten them. Next comes [illegible] whom they are running for Congress. He was for years [illegible] of the Tammany [illegible] their corruptions and their frauds as [illegible] plainly as he could and [illegible] with the knife against them. They beat him for Mayor when he had the regular nomination against [illegible] but he paid them off [illegible] beating him [illegible] when he ran his own machine against them and Havemeyer. Next comes the Big Judge, Mike Connolly who was a leader of the anti-Tammany Democrats, helped them beat McCool for Register and ran against R B Connolly for Comptroller and was [illegible] beaten or counted out and was at [illegible] year taken up by Tammany and given the most lucrative nomination in the city which he now holds. [illegible] Smith Ely [illegible] has fought Tammany as persistently [illegible] as any man in the city. He was elected Supervisor over the best efforts of the Ring [illegible] that he should watch expose and counteract the rascalities of Tweed. How much he did in the Board we cannot say but no man has said [illegible] of the incessant gigantic [illegible] of the Ring than he and we gratefully acknowledge our obligation to him for the rather feeble statement made by us on his authority that each brick in the new City Hall represents a stolen dollar and a false oath. His reward for [illegible] years unsparing war [illegible] the Ring is the Tammany nomination for Congress in the VIIth District.

The moral of this policy is plain. The aspiring Democrat who wants to get on in his party must fight Tammany with all his might [illegible] himself a thorn in the flesh for two or three years, and then they will take him in and give the best the house affords. Mike Connolly might have toiled and sweated in the regular party harness till doomsday and the Ring would never have thought of making him Register but he fought them in [illegible] in the course of three or four years. Smith Ely if he had always been a good Tammany man would have been [illegible] generously rewarded with an Aldermanship but he puts the rowels into the rascals for a few years and they send him to Congress. Young man! if you want to get ahead fast as a Democratic politician go in for length this year for Ledwith and the Ring will buy you at your own price next year!

French Patriotism

[From the Pittsburg Commercial]

While it is a point of honor with the Germans to take certain territory from the French it is just as much a point of honor with the latter to retain it. The feeling on the subject is at once deep and vehement not only with the mass but with the very elite of the nation. People who may have taken comparatively little interest in any other national question certainly people willing to purchase peace by any material sacrifices named by the enemy feel that the surrender of the French territory with its people involves national dishonor and choose to die rather than endure such degradation. A striking illustration of the sentiments of the most worthy portion of the nation is afforded in an appeal, which is published in the late French newspapers. It is contained in a formal letter from M Laboulaye first Secretary of the French Legation at Brussels a son of the celebrated professor who wrote Paris in America and is addressed to the German students whom he knew twenty years ago at the University of Heidelberg. The appeal, in a style of the utmost simplicity presents the obvious arguments against annexation with great cogency and eloquence. It is unlikely that any one of the persons to whom it is addressed could read it unmoved. It is for the most part marked by the most admirable tone and is entirely free from threats or braggadocio. We quote the sentence with which the appeal concludes as an illustration of the feeling with which such a Frenchman as Laboulaye regards the dismemberment of France.

In the meantime comrades, if the struggle must continue, if Paris is reduced to bury itself under its ruins if entire France rises against the yoke of the stranger I ask of Heaven only one last favor it is to find myself in battle face to face with one of you, even with him who was dearest to me, and to die by his hand if I may not succeed in slaying him with mine!

BRUSSELS Sept 2

The Sentence of Centralized France

From the New York Mail Oct 1st

The characteristically French Proclamation of the government at Tours is the saddest sentence of national self [illegible] that was ever issued. It forms a fitting sequel to the Cassandra like [illegible] at Paris [illegible] before the present war seemed unlikely [illegible] into the future history of the France of the past thirty years [illegible] the results of the [illegible] of the principle of local self government.

Here [illegible] attempt [illegible] the value of Democratic institutions, to surrender the [illegible] of freedom and to yield to the tendencies to centralization of power [illegible] their faith in the [illegible] and utility of self government [illegible] of the French Republican Ministers at Tours:

Meanwhile Frenchmen measure the depths of the abyss into which the Empire has precipitated you. For twenty years France submitted to this corrupting power which extinguished in her the springs of greatness and of life. The army of France stripped of its national character became without knowing it an instrument of tyranny and of servitude and is swallowed up in spite of the heroism of the soldiers by the treason of their chiefs

In this [illegible] France in the presence of an invading [illegible] the friends of free institutions the world over will have them [illegible] unanswerable text. It is a warning to all peoples against the [illegible] against the giving up of their rights to any [illegible] the growing process of centralization [illegible] of the life of a nation.

An old woman of Koshkonong Wisconsin, who lost a goose two years ago through the vindictiveness of an amateur sportsman has commenced suit for damages in the sum of $50. She calculates that if the slain fowl had lived and multiplied in accordance with natural laws the sale of the flesh and feathers of its descendants would bring her the designated sum in greenbacks

Cotton Cultivation in California

[illegible]

We have always thought that cotton could be profitably cultivated in this State and that it might and would be within a short time our principal agricultural export. The climate of the foothill and valley section of this State is excellently adapted to the growth of the cotton plant. Our upland excepting [illegible] favorably [illegible] without irrigation but on the low lands [illegible] it will thrive [illegible] without the artificial assistance of irrigation. This has [illegible] heretofore [illegible] simple opinion based upon our knowledge of the climate and [illegible] of California but now it is an assured fact demonstrated by actual experiment.

Mr J M Strong of Snelling Merced county has sent to our office samples of cotton raised in Merced and also samples from Alabama and a comparison of the samples of the two showed [illegible] California cotton had the [illegible] Mr Strong first experimented in growing cotton on the Merced river in this State in the year 1861 and was satisfied from that experiment that cotton could be profitably grown here. However one of the results of our civil war was to greatly increase the price of cotton and Mr Strong thoroughly understanding cotton growing went to Arkansas with the intention of prosecuting that business. In 1868 and 1869 he cultivated cotton crops in that State. He this spring returned to this State satisfied that cotton can be grown here at a better profit than in the so called cotton States.

For the information of our farming population we give the following from the experience of Mr Strong in cotton growing in Arkansas and California. In Arkansas in 1869 he raised 12 bales of cotton averaging six bales to the hand of his hired men and four bales to the hand of cotton grown on the shares. He says that before the war ten acres of cotton and five of corn was an average apportionment to the hand in the cotton States, and that now labor is so uncertain in those States that seven acres is the maximum of cotton cultivation to the hand. He estimates that one man can easily cultivate twenty acres of cotton in this State and gives the following reasons for his opinion. In the cotton States the estimate of loss of cotton in the field is ten per cent of the yield and it is necessary at the season of picking to have a large force of laborers, as there is a constant liability to heavy storms while here the picking season occurring in the dry season there is no necessity of maintaining a large reserve force of laborers to hurry the work of picking cotton as there is entire immunity from the disastrous effect of storms. This year the experimental yielding of a few acres of cotton on the plains of upland near Snelling without irrigation was five hundred pounds per acre an amount far above the average of the cotton States and on rich bottom lands of our rivers the yield will equal that of the richest cotton regions of the South. The cotton plant in this State wherever its cultivation has been tried has never suffered from the ravages of worms the greatest danger to the plant in the South and in Mexico. In fine Mr Strong asserts and his assertion is based upon practical experiment that cotton can be grown cheaper here than in the cotton States of Arkansas and [illegible] evidence of his faith he intends next Spring to put in a large crop. As California is far removed from the world's markets it is to our interest to encourage the cultivation of staples that can bear expensive transportation. At the present price of cotton or even at a reduction of fifty per cent from the present price, it is a vastly more profitable crop than grain. The low lands along our rivers are exactly suitable to its cultivation and we confidently expect that within a few years cotton will become one of the principal agricultural products of the State

Cost of the Empire

[From the Philadelphia Press.]

Mr Lionel S West British Secretary of Legation in Paris, drew up a financial report upon French revenue and expenditure which has been issued as a Parliamentary paper by the Government in London. The French Republican Executive have promised to make some startling revelations as to the lavish waste of money during the Empire. These may be exaggerations, but Mr West a responsible official functionary whose report was actually in the Foreign Office, London, weeks before the deposition of the Emperor may be assumed to be accurate, inasmuch as it was compiled with a liability to correction if wrong. It covers the time from the beginning of 1853 to the close of 1866.

The Civil List of Napoleon was set down at £1 000 000 under Louis Philippe it was £480 000 per annum. The grants to the princesses and princes of the Bonaparte family were £60 000 to the Orleans family £12 000 a year. In item for the Ministry of State which was £708 212 in 1853 and ran up to £951 028 in 1866 were included £19 860 for the baptism of the Prince Imperial. In the Orleans time the Secret Service money in the Foreign Office was £22 000, but it amounted to £40 000 in 1855. The sum of £7 156 was expended in the acquisition of the Imperial exiles tomb at St Helena. In 1853 the sum of £34 000 was voted as supplementary to the outlay for the Legion of Honor which item amounted to £400 000 in 1866.

In a pecuniary point of view the Empire did not pay. Louis Napoleon's Civil list was five millions of dollars per annum to which was added nearly as much from the Crown domains which include a large portion of the Orleans estates confiscated in January 1852. He had from all sources a yearly income of $10 000 000 beside free use of a number of palaces, museums, castles, parks and forests kept at the expense of the State. There were only himself, wife and child to spend this vast income which exceeded that of any other monarch of Europe. Yet four years ago his debts to Parisian tradesmen exceeded $20 000 000 and were increased rather than diminished since. This might seem incredible but Louis Philippe one of the richest men in France independent of his Civil list was found after the revolution of 1847 to have immense private debts and to have parted with his family plate supplying its place with electrotypes manufactured by Messrs Elkington in England. H[illegible] these monarchs spend their money

A curious piece of literary history has been brought to light by the very mild dilution of Dickens' "American Notes" which Mr George W Putnam has lately given in the Atlantic Monthly. Both Mr Dickens and his private secretary speak of a marvellously inquisitive man whom the traveling party of 1842 met on a western steamboat—a man who asked Mr Dickens the name of the fur on his great coat, the cost of it the place of its purchase the same questions and more as to his watch and so on with a myriad of impertinent questions. A correspondent of the Philadelphia Press now reveals the fact that this typical Yankee this interrogation mark incarnate was merely a bit of clever acting by a funny fellow of those days who saw in the English tourist a field for sport and who hoaxed Mr Dickens as such a [illegible] used to hoax Mr Pickwick. It seems almost incredible however that a man [illegible] could have been deceived by a practical joke whose fabricator was far more [illegible] than he seemed to be

Jim Fisk Jr who has had some interest and connection with Brattleboro Vt. in [illegible] past was applied to for a contribution to a fund for building an iron fence around the cemetery in that town. But he declined in the rather irreverent but witty plea that the cemetery does not need any fence as those inside can't get out and those who are outside do not wish to get in

EASTERN DATES TO NOVEMBER 16

Trochu's Preparations

LONDON Nov 16 A special dispatch from Paris the 9th says Trochu now [illegible] new and approved [illegible] reorganization of the armies in which the garrison is divided as follows First army, commanded by General Clement Thomas [illegible] battalions of the National Guard [illegible] legion of artillery and ten squadrons of cavalry. The duty of this force is to man the enceinte. It numbers three hundred thousand men. The cavalry is commanded by [illegible] and the artillery by Colonel Schoelcher. The second army commanded by Gen Ducrot is divided into three corps the first commanded by Gen Vinoy the second by General Renault and the third by Gen D'Exea. This army consists of eight divisions of infantry and one of cavalry. It numbers one hundred and thirty thousand men. Its duty will be to make sorties or strive to force a way through the Prussian lines and join the army of the Loire. The third army is commanded by Trochu and comprises seven divisions of infantry and one of cavalry and numbers one hundred and thirty thousand Mobiles and marines. Its duty is to defend forts and undertake operations near them.

Trochu informed the troops in a speech that the whole force of Germans around Paris is only two hundred thousand men, spread over sixty miles of circumference and when the proper time has arrived he will easily break the circle.

Official report shows that provisions are sufficient to give fresh meat, bacon bread and dried vegetables in all two pounds of solid food daily to each inhabitant of Paris until the 29th of January

The German Lines Around Paris

VERSAILLES, Nov 15 —The World's correspondent writes from Versailles, on the 10th Have made a tour around the whole German circle of investment beginning at Sartrouville a point on the Seine eight Kilometres north east of St Germain. The army of the Crown Prince holds a double line of entrenched positions extending from the west to the south east part of the city and to Chelles, a point on the Marne near the junction of the Strasbourg railroad with the river. This line is [illegible] miles long, taking in St Germain, Marley Versailles Sceaux, Choisy, Le Roi and Noisy Le Frand. The army of the Crown Prince of Saxony holds a double line extending from Chelles around the north and north east of the city twenty miles long, touching at Montrieul, Sevran, Garges and Gonnesse. Troops are quartered in all the houses of the villages and some in wooden barracks, so scattered that it is difficult to determine their strength. They are apparently so arranged as to be able to concentrate 60 000 or [illegible] 000 men on any point attacked within two hours. To concentrate a large force will require six or seven hours no doubt. The health of the troops is greatly impaired. The sick list is daily growing more alarming

Another Successful Engagement for the French.

DOLE, Nov 14 —The World's correspondent at Dole says Dijon has been re-captured by the French who after a brilliant engagement, drove the Prussians from the city. The Prussians are retreating northeast along the road leading to the towns of Mirabeau Mautoche and Gray

The Political Situation

The World's correspondent at Versailles writes on the 11th A belief prevails among the officers that as soon as Paris is occupied a majority of the troops will be quartered in the city and remain there all winter, superintending the Constituent Assembly and keeping a wide circle of country under subjection, while Prince Frederick Charles pacifies the rest, until the army lately under Bazaine is brought back to France to be used in strengthening the hands of the new Government, with which peace will be made. At the head of this new Government will be Napoleon. This is the reason why Bazaine has been sent to Wilhelmshohe and of the continued communication between Napoleon King William Bismarck and the Imperialists of England and Belgium

General De Palladines by decree of the Government has been appointed Commander in Chief of the army of the Loire

Later Military News.

LONDON, Midnight Nov 15 —Additional French reports confirm the recapture of Dijon

Prince Frederick Charles has reached the river [illegible] His columns converge at Sens and he will cross the river to the assistance of Von Der Tann who with an army is estimated at 100 000 men

The [illegible] from Basle on the 10th states that the Prussian troops investing Belfort 30 000 strong under Gen Treskow. Their earthworks are already formidable. The place is apparently strongly fortified and German officers think it will take months to reduce it. The garrison, including Mobiles, is said to reach 3 000. There are rumors of the gathering of French forces in the neighborhood to attack Treskow

LONDON Nov 15 —A special correspondent writing from Rouen on the 13th says the spirit of the people is excellent. The victory at Orleans has had a tremendous effect here

The Prussians are reported still at Gisors and have made no northward movement. There are about 25 000 troops here, including a large force of artillery

The World's correspondent at Versailles writes on the 11th A grand sortie from Paris is expected on the 12th or 13th and preparations to resist it were vigorously going forward. I have good reasons for advising you not to place too much reliance on the reports of the successes of the Army of the Loire. Von der Tann and a small force is falling steadily back in accordance with a well understood plan. No doubt he will lose a considerable number of men but the sacrifice will be the same as at Gravelotte

It is intended to hold the Loire army in check and meanwhile Prince Frederick Charles is steadily pushing on and even now is nearly within striking distance of Palladine's right flank. I believe I can confidently assure you that unless Moltke's plans fail as they have not yet failed since the commencement of the war, the Army of the Loire will find itself in a trap with the chances of another disastrous capitulation certain

A large concentration of ships at Portsmouth is already apparent. The greatest activity prevails in all the naval depots of the Kingdom. A powerful fleet will be immediately dispatched to the Mediterranean. In the best informed circles it is regarded that in consequence of the present pretensions of Russia a general European war is inevitable. A rupture between England and Russia is looked upon as imminent. It is also believed that Prussia is in close alliance with Russia against the rest of Europe

AMSTERDAM, Nov 16 —The Handelsblad of this morning publishes a London telegram to the effect that the British fleet is preparing to sail. Its object has been announced at Vienna and Florence. Stabbing Affray.

DIXON Nov 16 —A serious difficulty occurred last night at Winkleman's saloon which resulted in the stabbing probably fatally of a German named Stotenburg by another German named Carson. It is not known exactly what caused the difficulty, but it is presumed it was nothing more nor less than a bar room fight. Both parties are notoriously quarrelsome, having several times previously figured conspicuously in difficulties which fortunately resulted in no such fatal termination. The parties first met in what is known as the corner saloon where, after indulging in a liberal supply of lager beer, the difficulty first originated. High words ensued, but by the efforts of mutual friends they were separated. They met again at Winkleman's saloon where the altercation was resumed which proved so disastrous to Stotenburg. The wound was inflicted by a knife blade passing in the left side below the heart inflicting a dangerous and probably a fatal wound. After the stabbing Carson put on his coat. Stotenburg is still alive but very weak

Workingmen's Policy

A list was recently published in New York of the sums of money donated by large importing houses in that city for the purpose of extending the movement in behalf of free trade. Large importers and foreign manufacturers can afford to donate money for this purpose. When we consider the issue at stake, the immense interest affected, we are not surprised at the amount expended in this attempt to manufacture public opinion. The consumption of woolen goods alone in this country is to the amount of over $250 000 000 annually. Only $75 000 000 of that amount is imported. This is a good large margin in favor of the American producer and manufacturer. The capital invested in this manufacture does not receive ten per cent of this large sum, all the rest goes to the workingmen—the wool-growers and the laborers in the factories. Take off the tariff and admit foreign manufacturers in this line and one of two things must happen. Either the factories which now produce about $200,000,000 worth of woolen goods must be closed and the workingmen connected with them turned adrift to seek other employment, or these laborers must work for the scanty pittance, (barely sufficient to keep soul and body together under favorable circumstances) that is paid to the European laborer.

Foreign manufacturers and their free trade allies in this country know very well that the former alternative would prevail—that the American factories would be shut up. The wool-grower would find his occupation gone also. He would only want to raise what wool his wife and daughters would make into rolls to spin into yarn for the winter supply for the family. We all know that the American wool-grower could never compete in foreign markets with the European and South American wool-grower.

Workingmen above all others in this country should study this matter and act for their own interests. They are the real party concerned. If the manufacturing industries now established continue to operate, under the free trade system, it will be only on the condition that the operatives accept the same [illegible] that are paid for like work in Europe. That they could not do, and live, unless the prices of all products of the farm, garden, and dairy are correspondingly [illegible]. Even with these reductions it should also be remembered that our coffee, tea, sugar, and a thousand-and-one articles that enter into the daily consumption of every family, however poor, that are not produced in this country, would not be affected by the free trade policy. The price of such articles would remain the same as they are now.

European Complications.

It will be seen by the dispatches published to-day that the situation in Europe is becoming exceedingly critical, and that there is every prospect of a general war. It is now evident that a persistence by Russia in her determination to abrogate the treaty of Paris, will lead to a general conflict.

Great Britain, it begins to be clear, will fight once more as she did in 1855, to save Turkey from the grasp of Russia. It would not be possible for the other nations of Europe to keep out of such a struggle. The whole of Europe would be embroiled, and a war more general than has been known since the time of the first Napoleon, would be the result.

Evidently the momentous issues of this all-embracing and all-devouring war are in the hands of Russia. That Power has given notice of her intention to have a revision of the treaty of Paris. Is she ready to back that demand? Would she have made it if she were not prepared to fight to maintain it? An alliance of Great Britain, Austria and Italy with Turkey would be natural and inevitable against Russia, persisting in her aggressions. Of course this would have a profound effect on the existing war between France and Germany. In such a struggle Prussia would be forced to show her hand. The two wars could not be carried on separately. They would become one general struggle, and Germany would be compelled to take her position with Russia, in case there is an agreement between them, which is now generally believed. This might possibly work out the deliverance of France. What a plot appears to be unfolding!

England, it is reported, has signified her readiness to re-open negotiations on the Alabama claims. The Liverpool Post, one of the liberal papers of that country, says: "Every practical English statesman with Lord Derby, agrees that, sooner or later, we shall have to liquidate the Alabama damages." And further, it significantly remarks: "If ever a nation was taught anything in this world, England was taught by the Alabama business to preserve by any and all means, rigid neutrality, and, above all, not to be benevolently neutral toward the side which is tainted with wrong and destined to defeat."

The Democratic newspapers are pitching into the President's Thanksgiving proclamation, as a usurpation, a violation of "State rights," and a terribly objectionable affair in all respects. The trouble is, that from the Democratic "stand point" the mal-contents don't see anything to be thankful for. The results of the late elections, and the prospects of those to come, are not indicative of an early return of the Democracy to power. They are not getting a chance at the official flesh pots, and can't work themselves up to the point of rejoicing over the better fortune of their opponents.

A San Francisco dispatch says the Democrats of that city have been firing a salute in consequence of the victories achieved by their party in the East! Here, indeed, is an instance of that happy constitution of mind which enables people to be jolly under adverse circumstances. What victories have they gained in the last elections? They have carried no State that they did not have before and have lost New Jersey and Louisiana. But we like to see people in a cheerful frame of mind, even in adversity, therefore we perceive no objection whatever to these Democratic jubilations.

The population of Ohio according to the census just completed, is 2,652,352. The gain in the last ten years is 312,791 or only 13 per cent. The population of Illinois is 2,567,032, or only 85,000 below that of Ohio. Of course Illinois will soon pass Ohio and take the third place, pushing Ohio down to the fourth. And in a few years Missouri will begin to contend with Ohio for the fourth place in the rank of States.

The director of the Zoological Gardens at Paris has sold the animals to the butchers. The buffaloes bring high prices.

Official Patronage

It is [illegible] certain [illegible] that Secretary Cox was driven out of the Cabinet by the politicians who want the patronage of the Departments to be devoted to political uses in behalf of the Republican party. And by some Gen. Grant is loudly censured for not retaining Cox in spite of all opposition.

Inasmuch as the Republican party has been entrusted by a large majority of the whole people with the reins of government it would seem that it is under no particular obligation to go among its opponents to find persons to fill official positions. Under our system of government official patronage is recognized as always belonging to the dominant party, and every party when in power has used it to reward those who have served it and to strengthen itself for future contests.

The Herald is apparently horrified to find that the present National Administration acts on this principle. Might not that paper get a better view of the case by looking a little closer at home? Its party is in power in this State. Is it not using all the influence it can command and all the patronage at its disposal, with the single object of future party success? Does it allow any person to remain in office unless he is a pronounced Democrat and can be useful to the party? Nay indeed has it not legislated out of office in this city, men elected by the people, for the sole purpose of putting the tools of party in their place?

The mode now in vogue of disposing of official patronage was not introduced by the Republicans but by the Democratic party. Every President is deemed bound to lend his influence to the support of the party with which he is identified. If the system is wrong, as some of the Democracy contend, why did their party introduce it, and why do they still adhere to the system in every case where they are in power?

A San Francisco dispatch which we publish to-day conveys some important intelligence relative to the Northern Pacific Railroad. There can hardly be a doubt that a considerable section of this end of the road will be constructed this year. Oregon will feel at once the quickening influence of this great enterprise and the trade of Portland will be powerfully stimulated by it.

ADDITIONAL ELECTION NEWS.

ST PAUL, Nov. 9.—Ramsey county, including this city, gives a Republican majority of 400. Republicans have gained some in the State Legislature.

MICHIGAN.

DETROIT, Nov 9.—Returns come in slow, owing to the storms and bad roads. The Republican State ticket is elected by 20,000. Waldron, Rep, is elected to Congress in the First District by 1,000 to 1,200, Stoughton, Rep, in the Second District by 3,000 to 4,000, Blair, Rep, in the Third, by 2 500 to 3 000, Ferry, Rep, in the Fourth, by 8,000 to 10,000, Conger, Rep, in the Fifth, by less than 500, Sutherland, Dem, in the Sixth, defeats Briggs by 2,000 and upward. The Republicans have the Legislature and a majority on joint ballot by about 40, insuring the United States Senator.

ILLINOIS

CHICAGO, Nov 9.—The result of the election in this State, as far as known, gives the Republicans the State ticket and candidate for Congress at large. The Republicans claim the Legislature by 20 on joint ballot. The Democrats gain a Congressman in the Eighth District, Robinson being elected over Merriam by 1,200 majority. Ingersoll, Rep, in the Fifth District, is defeated by Stevens, Dem, by about 1,000 majority. The Democrats also claim the election of Hartzell in the Twelfth District over Hay, the sitting member. The Fourth District is so close as to take the official vote to decide. The Seventh District is also close. The Democrats are hopeful of the election of Hunter over Moore, the present member.

MISSOURI

ST LOUIS, Nov. 9.—Unofficial returns of this county, with the exception of three precincts, give Brown 15,125, McClurg, 4,149, the remaining precincts will probably increase Brown's majority to 16 000. The Republicans claim the defeat of Rice, Dem., in the Ninth District. It will be several days before the official returns are received from those districts.

TENNESSEE

NASHVILLE, Nov 9.—The election resulted in the choice of a Democratic Governor, Legislature and five Congressmen. Butler in the First and Maynard in the Second District are probably elected. Nothing is heard to indicate the result in the Third District.

The Eastern Elections

[From the Sacramento Union.]

NEW YORK

The preparations made by the Washington Government to enforce the law of Congress against the thieves and perjurers of New York city, if need be at the mouth of the cannon and point of the bayonet, had the best effect. The cowardly foreign scum and native scoundrelism slunk back to their dens. The vote was honest, and being so was far short of what the repeaters made it two years ago. The vote in round numbers for Hoffman in 1868 was 112 500. This year it was 83 700, a falling off of 28 800. This is nearly 1 000 more than Hoffman's majority was that year and nearly 20,000 more than Seymour's majority over Grant. The figures doubtless represent the number of fraudulent Democratic votes counted in 1868 in the city. Had the Republicans done only as well in the city and interior as they did two years ago, Woodford's election would have been sure. That they did not do as well even in the city is the curious feature in the election. New York actually gave ten thousand less votes to Mayor Hall than to Governor Hoffman. The Mayor though a demagogue is a man of great ability, while the Governor is a very small demagogue, a mere pretender, without any ability at all, and the most unscrupulous of the entire Tammany lot, not excepting Tweed.

NEW JERSEY

Hitherto, among States politically, New Jersey has ranked about as unchangeably Democratic as Berks county, Pennsylvania among counties. All through the trying times of the war, in which such solid old Democracies, as Illinois and California were revolutionized, New Jersey stood firm. She gave over 4 000 majority against Lincoln in 1860 and over 7 000 for McClellan in 1864 and nearly 3 000 for Seymour in 1868. This year the old party is overthrown if we may credit the telegraphic news, and the Democrats only elect one Congressman out of the five. In 1868 there were three districts that gave Democratic majorities, the Second, 80[illegible], the Third, 4 124, and the Fifth, 2,248. The colored vote has done this remarkable work. The Fifth District contains the city of Newark, in which that political element was very strong. The total negro and mulatto population of New Jersey was 26 000 in 1860. It has probably gone up as high as 40 000 since then. Allowing one vote to each seven inhabitants there would be a total colored vote of 5 715. These distributed among the large towns of Camden in the First, Newark in the Fifth and Brunswick in the Third, have defeated the Nasby Democracy and revolutionized the State. Had there been a gubernatorial election this year New Jersey would have a Republican Governor. Hereafter, with reputable Republican management, this State may be classed as among those most certain to go against the Democracy.

THE TERRITORIES

The Flathead Indians in Western Montana have raised heavier crops this season than ever before.

Several cases of sluice robbing have occurred lately, in the diggings around Helena. Summary punishment is strongly hinted.

A species of the sugar maple is found in the canyons of Montana, and it has been ascertained that its sap is as strongly saccharine as the sap of the Eastern maple.

It is said that one of Brigham Young's sons is about to marry a flourishing female seminary at Salt Lake City—all but the principal and the teacher of music, who are excepted, not from any fault of their own, but because one of them is a married woman and 63 years old, and the other a Frenchman.

The country about the great geysers of the Upper Yellowstone is filled with cougars or mountain lions—next to the grizzly the most dangerous and ferocious animals of North America. They burrow in the earth, but will climb trees with the agility of a timber squirrel and run fast enough to capture the mountain hare in a fair race.

The people of Wyoming Territory have been studying the doctrine of compensations, and arrived at the conclusion that they may get even with the Union Pacific Railroad Company for its heavy freight and passage tariff by levying enormous taxes upon the road. The plan looks well on the surface and may work effectually, but if the railroad should adopt the same tactics—as it doubtless will—and get even with the Territory by a further increase of the local tariff, it is not easy to see how the Wyomingoes can accumulate a net profit on the transaction.

A Bozeman (Montana) paper has this: Many have seen and admired the rock globes found on the Cannon Ball river, which empties into the Missouri several hundred miles below this point. They are perfect spheres, varying in size from marbles to many pounds weight. Broken open the centre is found to closely resemble iron ore, and they give forth an unmistakable metalic ring when struck with a hammer. Another stream has been found in Eastern Montana in which these wonders abound. The popular notion of their formation is that they are the result of descending lava, which had been thrown up to an immense height by volcanic convulsion—the same physical law acting that is applied in the manufacture of shot.

WAR MISCELLANY

A dispatch from Antwerp says: On account of so large a number of German ships refuged here and the increased trade directed to this port in consequence of the war, this harbor is overcrowded with shipping, and many vessels are unable to unload their cargoes.

The German mind abounds in philosophy, but it has never been credited with much of that thing we call wit. "Old Fritz" frankly confessed that his people were wholly wanting in this ornamental quality of mind. But since the besiegers of Paris have trumped the French carrier pigeon post coaches with hawks trained to catch and devour them, even the wits of Paris must admit the German mind is apt to learn what has hitherto been considered unteachable. This is turning wit to good account. Hawks are reliable as the surest and most skilful mail robbers as long as the mail is carried by pigeons.

A Tribune special from the headquarters of the army of the Loire, Nov 6th, says: This army has increased rapidly, and numbers 100,000; artillery abundant, but harness and saddles are deficient. The men are well equipped and fed. French Generals cannot make it out how they have been permitted to concentrate so large a force unmolested. The French themselves when changing front at Salbois intended to attack, but did not, because the movement took six days instead of twenty four hours. Their failure was due to the interference of the Tours Government, which insisted on directing every detail, and had our own plan of battle break down from sheer ignorance and incompetency, yet the Generals are now blamed for the delay.

A dispatch from London, Nov 8th, says: A number of letters from the World correspondents are received here to-day, from which we extract the following: Fearful distress and discontent prevailed in Germany, growing out of the prolongation of the war, which journals dare not speak of, because no mercy is shown by the military government. The whole country is morally in a most deplorable condition, and it is doubtful how long public indignation can be restrained by military discipline. Everywhere is desolation. Tens of thousands are in mourning. Prussia may yet greatly injure France, but she is so exhausted she cannot conquer her. King William must soon come under the same conditions as did the Emperor after the battle of the 14th, 16th and 18th of August, when he dared not return to Paris without achieving a success to efface previous disaster. William also seeks success before daring to return to Berlin, otherwise the Prussian power will collapse like the dreams of the Emperor.

POLITICAL NOTES

The New York Herald takes the ground that the re-election of Gen. Grant is a foregone conclusion, and that no man, whomever he may be, that runs in opposition to him can hope for success.

A dispatch from Charleston, S. C., November 1st, says: The official returns show that the Republicans have elected their candidates for Congress in all the districts of this State. Bowen, a white Republican, is beaten by Delarge, a colored Republican, as representative of the Charleston district.

The Democracy are figuring very hard to make Pennsylvania a Democratic State. Democratic figures have, however, a reputation of being a little loose, and the calculations don't all agree. It is a pity, however, to deprive the Democracy of the joy their calculations give them, and which they failed to receive from the votes of their party.

The National Intelligencer has been revived and is now published in New York. The editor has been requested to revive with it the Whig party, but he is too modest to suppose the Intelligencer equal to such a labor. When the Whig party reappears he will recognize it, but doubts whether he could work its reconstruction. The Whig party is dead, and those who survive it have the sense to acknowledge the fact. The Democratic party as it was is also dead. It is no longer the pro slavery State Sovereignty party of ten years ago. The name survives, but it is doubtful whether that will long exist as the nomenclature of a political organization, unless those who engineer that party breathe into it the breath of life and living issues.

Train at Marseilles

To the Editor of the New York Tribune:

Sir: The great speech of our distinguished countryman to the people of Marseilles, on his arrival there from India, China, Japan and Australia, on the 23d of October, has created such a profound sensation throughout France that I am surprised to see that no newspaper has yet procured it by special cable dispatch. I need hardly say that our Association received the report in full the next morning, and I hereby (with the permission of our Head Center) inclose you a copy. FENIAN.

Train had forwarded a telegram to the Prefect from Port Said, Egypt, then another from Malta, a third from Messina, and finally a fourth from the Strait of Bonifacio, announcing his approach and his intention to address the people. The last of these containing simply the words "L'Aigle de l'Amerique. Ça ira!" was posted on the bulletin board of the Prefecture, and created an immense excitement. Therefore when the steamer arrived and the news spread through out the city that Train had reached the Hotel de la Mediterranée, the entire population thronged into the open square in front of that hotel. The American and Fenian flags already floated from the roof.

The people nevertheless were obliged to wait nearly an hour, while Train arranged his costume, dictating, meanwhile, his speech (the same delivered 793 successive nights at home) to the Secretary of the Prefect, who translated it into French sentences, which the orator, with his astonishing memory, needed to hear but a single time.

When finally Train appeared on the balcony, in a black dress coat spotted with golden fleurs de lis, a pink satin waist-coat buttoned with large diamonds, the harp of Erin in green enamel on his bosom, and kid gloves the fingers of which were colored alternately red, white and blue, representing both France and America, the sensation produced was indescribable. His figure relieved against the [illegible] which he always [illegible] with him, littered in the rays of the setting sun, and the piece of chalk [illegible] in his right hand was visible to the eyes of every spectator.

[illegible] he began. [illegible] [Here the shouts and cries of the multitude interrupted the orator for several minutes, during which he was slightly prompted by the Secretary.] [illegible] [Question [illegible]. What does he say? was whispered through the crowd. It is the [illegible] of Paul de Kock, said a professor of literature. It compliments the French authors. Renewed applause.] [illegible] [Tremendous applause.] [illegible] [The joyous tumult here became indescribable. Train saw that it was unnecessary for him to speak further. He therefore drew upon the blackboard a picture of the American and French Eagles tearing the Prussian Eagle to pieces. The blackboard was then carried in procession through the streets, and more than 70 000 citizens enrolled their names that evening as volunteers under Train's command.]

Mr. Kidd and Miss Kidd were married on horseback in a Virginia town a few days ago. They wore white kids and the gentleman sported a goatee.

VALUE OF INDIVIDUAL EFFORT.—For the last year Judge Thornton has received a good many letters of inquiry concerning Oregon and he has been in the habit of mailing to the writers copies of the pamphlets of statistics published by the Board of Statistics, Immigration and Labor Exchange, frequently writing also, a letter. Some months since he received such a letter from Iowa to which he answered by letter, and sent, also, copies of the pamphlet above mentioned. He is now just in receipt of another letter from the same party conveying the welcome intelligence that as the result of the correspondence, about thirty families in the neighborhood are preparing to migrate to this State. In one or two instances he knows of other families who were induced by his correspondence to come to Oregon. This instance of what is being accomplished by individual effort is strongly suggestive of the importance of associated action and the proper seconding of the efforts of the Board of Statistics.

FALSE REPORTS.—A gentleman from Oregon City informs us it is reported at that place that small pox is prevalent at this city, and that many people are afraid to come here on that account. The fact is there is not now a case in the city, or at East Portland, nor has there been for some time. Nobody in the city talks of small pox, and the subject is only heard of when people come here from the country. The cases heretofore reported as small pox have all recovered, without, so far as known, conveying the infection to others. If there were small-pox here, there would not be the least danger in coming into and passing freely through the streets or business houses, as the authorities are constantly on the watch and no precaution is omitted to prevent spread of the contagion. If a case should occur it would at once be removed outside of the city limits, so that, really this city is one of the safest places in the State.

LOVELY AND SATISFACTORY.—One of the Police Commissioners who in the absence of the Governor has the general charge of this city informs us that since the new regime began, everything is satisfactory. We had already ventured to be of the opinion that the new arrangement was eminently satisfactory to the "ins," and as the "outs" had no hand or say in fixing things up, they have no business to be satisfied or dissatisfied. No doubt, the fat offices are very satisfactory to the [illegible] fellows who fill them, and the sinecures to the slim and lean kind. Let us be thankful, that at last somebody is satisfied.

SALEM UNIVERSITY.—Rev. Mr. Waller, now in this city, informs us that our correspondent was mistaken in saying that the University School had been dismissed till January. He says the recess will continue only two or three weeks, or until the small pox alarm shall subside. It is thought probable that the classes will be called together in two or three weeks and that then there will be no vacation, or no more than a very short one, for the holidays.

NAVIGATION ON THE UPPER COLUMBIA.—From and after this date the regular trips of the Yakima on the Upper Columbia will be discontinued on account of low water. The steamer Owyhee will, however, run irregularly, making trips as frequently as possible to facilitate the transportation of freight. Passenger tickets will be sold only to the Dalles, at which place passengers will learn when the boat will leave for up river.

CITY DIRECTORY.—The ninth annual issue of the Portland Directory is announced by Capt. S. J. McCormick. In the volume for 1871 we are promised about one hundred and fifty pages of statistical matter, including the directory of names and business. It will be ready for delivery on or about the 1st of January, at $2 50 per copy. McCormick, compiler and publisher; Bushwiler, canvasser.

A SCRAMBLE AND SCRAMBLED EGGS.—One Robt Burns, not the poet, nor yet the son of the poet, was detected in a store yesterday filling his pockets with eggs. The capers of the storekeeper, who owned the eggs, reduced them to scrambled eggs, and the fellow with the poetic name was marched off to jail in a most sorry plight. A fearful warning against the appetite for omelets.

FALLING.—The Wallamet river is again falling rapidly, and is now almost as low as before the late rains.

FRUITS OF INDIVIDUAL EFFORT.—For the last year Judge Thornton has received a good many letters of inquiry concerning Oregon, and he has been in the habit of mailing to the writers copies of the pamphlets of statistics published by the Board of Statistics, Immigration and Labor Exchange, frequently writing, also, a letter. Some months since, he received such a letter from Iowa which he answered by letter, and sent, also, a copy of the pamphlet above mentioned. He is now in receipt of another letter from the same party, conveying the welcome intelligence that as the result of the correspondence, about [illegible] families in the neighborhood are preparing to come to this State. In one or two instances [illegible] of other families who were induced by correspondence to come to Oregon. MAGIC.—Carl Bosco's benefit will take place at Philharmonic Hall this evening. Mr. Bosco will perform a number of wonderful tricks never before shown here.

SPECIAL POLICEMAN.—The Governor's Police Commissioners met Tuesday evening and appointed Wm. Hickey a special policeman. His beat is to be from Yamhill to Madison street.

FERRY LANDING.—Workmen have been engaged for a day or two in excavating, at the foot of J street, East Portland, for a ferry landing. This work has long been needed.

NEW STYLE OF ORGAN.—Mr. S. J. McCormick is just opening the first invoice of the Burdett organs. They are said to be of very superior excellence.

The Cincinnati Gazette affirms that there is a growing inclination among all the factions of the party to make Mr. Chase the candidate of the Democracy at the next Presidential election. Pendleton and Hendricks, it thinks, by their past and present antagonism, cancel each other; and Hoffman, no better man than Seymour, would be subject to the same obstacles by which the latter was defeated. The Democratic party missed its fortune when, with a stupidity and mismanagement which, if it had not been actual, would have been inconceivable, in 1868, it thrust aside Mr. Chase.

Of the members of Gen. Grant's staff at the time the latter was stationed at Cairo (Ill.) in 1862, two only are living, Gen. Hillyer and Maj. W. W. Leland, of Saratoga. Those who have since died are Gens. McPherson, Rawlins, Bowers, Lago and Graham.

Those cheerful Adventists are again ciphering up their "time and times," etc, to prove that the European war is the pouring out of the seventh vial, or something of the kind.

B. L. STONE, at 108 Front street, has just received by last steamer and will continue to receive by every steamer, new lots of CLOCKS, WATCHES and elegant JEWELRY of every description, which he will continue to sell very cheap, having found that this policy of "small profits and quick returns" is the secret road to success. He is also prepared to do all sorts of repairing on the shortest notice.

The Summer is past and Autumn is here,
The finest season throughout the whole year,
But the days grow cold, and all must prepare
For warmer Clothing in Winter to wear.
Well, KOHN & FISHEL, of Clothing renown,
Have the best supply ever brought to town.
They have all sorts of coats and pants that will match,
That will last a whole year and not need a patch.
There are socks, vests and shirts and a thousand things more,
Which they offer you cheaper than ever before,
You all need the clothes and they need the tin,
Then get a new suit and let Winter go in.

THE QUESTION SETTLED.—Those eminent men, Dr. Jas. Clark, Physician to Queen Victoria, and Dr. Hughes Bennett, say that consumption can be cured. Dr. Wistar knew this when he discovered his BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY, and experience has proved the correctness of his opinion.

NO MORE MERCURY FOR ME!—"Put them in the fire, my dear," was the advice of Mrs. Macarthy to her son, a bilious and dyspeptic youth who had just brought home another box of blue pills. "But what am I to take, then, mother?" said he. "Get a bottle of PLANTATION BITTERS," she replied; "I'll guarantee it does you good." He did so, and then another and another. With the third bottle all his unpleasant symptoms vanished. In a letter to a young friend he relates this anecdote, and winds up with "No more mercury for me!"

SEA MOSS FARINE from pure Irish Moss, for Blanc Mange, Puddings, Custards, Creams, &c., &c. The cheapest, healthiest and most delicious food in the world.

AN ENEMY IN YOUR MOUTH.—Do not put an enemy in your mouth to steal away your teeth. Beware of destructive tooth washes and tooth powders, many of which are base imitations of SOZODONT. Insure a life lease of sound teeth and fragrant breath, by adopting the fragrant SOZODONT.

"SPALDING'S GLUE," handy about the house, mends everything.

At J. O'Niel & Co's Clothing Store on First street, can be found as fine a collection of Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods as any place in the city, consisting of Coats, Pants, Vests, "Star Shirts," underclothing, hosiery, collars, cuffs, ties, &c., &c., together with Boys' Suits and Clothes of all sorts of the best quality. They also make to order on short notice of home or foreign manufacture. Call and see their goods.

Public Speakers and Singers will find "BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES" beneficial in clearing the voice before speaking or singing, and relieving the throat after any unusual exertion of the vocal organs, having a peculiar adaptation to affections which disturb the organs of speech. For Coughs and Colds the Troches are effectual.

A Chinese Novel.

Here is the plot of a Chinese novel called "The Twins." It is given in a recent review of Chinese literature, by Jessie E. Ringwalt:

A husband and wife, after years of constant bickering, finally differ seriously about the marriage of their twin daughters. The lovely girls are as sweet and charming as the twin blossoms of the brilliant rose, or the flowers of the odorous herb bending before the breeze.

The husband is absolutely determined to dispose of them according to his own choice, and the wife, with equal obstinacy, claims the same right. The parents each select their favorite suitors, and the marriage presents, which are an indispensable preliminary, are brought to the house at the same moment.

The irate father drives away with contumely the porters who bear the presents sent by the suitors chosen by the mother, and his wife drags aside with contempt those presented by her husband's favorite.

The debate waxes warmer, and threatens to become interminable, and the case is at length carried before the official who has legal jurisdiction over contests between parents. The magistrate is a prudent and worthy man, who, after listening carefully to the question at issue, demands that the daughters shall be summoned.

The young girls are brought and kneel before the tribunal. The magistrate permits them to remain silent, but orders them to exhibit their preference bowing either to the right, where the suitors chosen by the mother are arranged, or to the left, where stand those selected by the father.

The four suitors are equally repulsive to the girls, and the twins perseveringly bow their heads and rest their eyes steadily upon the floor. The magistrate, appreciating the feelings of the daughters, instantly dismiss all the suitors, and endeavors to negotiate a peace between the belligerents; but, as he fails utterly in his pacific intentions, he proposes a plan of adjustment—the Chinese specific for the cure of all evils—a competitive examination.

The two men who shall prepare the best essays upon a given subject shall become the husbands of the twins. No possible objection can be offered to such an admirable scheme, and the examination takes place. But, unfortunately, only one essay is found worthy of acceptance, and the author of it absolutely refuses to be married, because the Higher Powers have condemned him to celibacy. He explains that he has been six times betrothed, and six times have his lady loves died suddenly as the victim of a terrible fate. Learned astrologers, consulted upon the subject, have declared that he will always be the subject of misfortune to a wife. "Perhaps so," answers the wise magistrate, "you will be the cause of misfortune to a wife, but not to two!"

An argument so irresistible overwhelms all present, the difficulties are vanquished, and the fortunate essayist happily marries both the twins.

Paris and War.—Paris has been attacked or besieged quite a number of times, and has owed its safety very often to the strength of its walls.

In the year 885 Paris was vainly besieged by the Normans, the siege lasting more than two years.

In 1358 it was besieged and not taken by the Dauphin, and although its inhabitants opened their gates to him several years afterward, it was only because they were perfectly satisfied with this arrangement.

In 1359 Edward, King of England, after having ravaged and conquered France up to the foot of the walls of Paris, and being encamped at Montrogue, was obliged to fall back before the fortifications of the French capital.

In 1464 the Count de Charolais failed in all his attacks on Paris.

In 1472 the Duke of Burgundy succeeded only in destroying the suburbs.

In 1536 Charles V. of Germany, who had conquered the Champagne and vanquished King Francis I. of France penetrated up to the walls of Paris, but could not enter the city.

In 1588 Henry III, of France, saw all his efforts fruitless against the walls of Paris.

In 1595, Henry IV. could enter the city only after the adjuration of the Protestant faith at St. Denis, and with the free consent of the Parisians.

In 1663 the walls of Paris checked the foes for several years.

It will be seen whether the present inhabitants of Paris, which has been made infinitely stronger by a double line of defense, will defend their city as energetically as their forefathers.

Light-houses.—Many improvements must still be made before the light-house service is as good as it should be. The Cambria would not have been lost, we are told, had the British Government built the light-house that had been asked for on Mistraline Island, or if the light on Innistrahue had been more brilliant. Evidently the light of the future for marine purposes is to be the magneto-electric, provided the inventors succeeded in making the apparatus for its use more simple and within the ability of ordinary light-keepers to manage. In this connection it is noted that Holmes' electric lighting apparatus was used successfully for several months at the South Foreland light-house in the English Channel; the cost of fuel to work the steam-engine therewith connected did not exceed that of the oil formerly employed; the light possessed remarkable power of penetrating fog; and, although the apparatus was small and the engine of but one or two-horse power, the flame was so brilliant as to be seen even before it had arisen above the horizon. Wilde's improvement on Holmes' machine produced such intense light as, even without a reflector, was estimated to have an intensity equaled to four thousand wax candles, or about twice that of the sun. The expense of such a machine of ordinary size is less than that of gas producing the same effect.

Curious Manner of Deciding a Claim.—Two gentlemen of high birth, the one a Spaniard and the other a German, having rendered the Emperor Maximilian the Second many services, they each, for recompense, demanded his daughter Helena in marriage. The prince, who entertained equal respect for each of them, could not give the preference to either; and after much delay he told them that, as they had equal claims to his attention and regard, he could not give his definite consent to either of them to marry his daughter, and that they must decide it by their own strength and address; but as he did not wish to risk the loss of either or both by suffering them to fight with offensive weapons, he had ordered a large bag to be brought, and he who should be successful enough to put his rival in it, should obtain his daughter. This extraordinary duel took place in the presence of the whole imperial court, and lasted nearly an hour. At length the Spaniard yielded, and the German, the Baron Talbert, when he had put his rival into the bag, took him on his back and placed him at the feet of the Emperor, who, on the following day, gave the victor his daughter Helena in marriage.

LAND DEPARTMENT

OREGON & CALIFORNIA RAILROAD COMPANY.

Salem, Oregon, October 22, 1870.

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT IS MADE FOR information of all concerned:

First—Congress has granted to the Company all alternate sections of the public lands designated by odd-numbers within a distance of thirty miles on each side of the railroad, excepting lands to which a pre-emption or homestead claim had attached prior to the withdrawal by Government of the lands coterminous with the first division of located line from East Portland to Jefferson, at 12 M. February 16, 1870. The second division of located line from Jefferson to a point six miles south of Roseburg, May, 1870, and from the last named point to the California line, 1870.

Second—Persons who have valid pre-emption or homestead claims to any tract on an odd numbered section can purchase the same from the Railroad Company at the Government price of $1 25 per acre in greenbacks, and upon very favorable terms, if they so desire, by filing an abandonment of their claim in the U. S. Land Office, blanks for which will be furnished by the Land Agent of the Company. Such purchase from the Company has these advantages over a purchase from the Government: The party can leave the land if necessary; he can sell the land or mortgage it; he is saved the payment of lawyers' or agents' fees and expenses of witnesses to go to the Land Office to "prove up" his claim; he can get his title perfect in less time, and he can buy on credit at a low rate of interest.

Third—No sales will be made by the Company until the land is listed over to it by the United States Land Commissioner and Secretary of the Interior.

Purchasers are thus assured that the title they obtain is perfect. I. R. MOORES,

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his special study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended Doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, (Private Entrance on Commercial) San Francisco. Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian. jy8d1ptf

THE RIVERSIDE

HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION!

OF

EAST PORTLAND, OREGON.

IS NOW PREPARED TO RECEIVE SUBSCRIPTIONS to their Stock.

Applications for ONE HUNDRED SHARES were made before the books were opened, and a large number of Shares have been taken.

The following extracts from the Oregonian and Bulletin will convey a good idea of the plan and workings of the Association, the location of the land, etc., etc.

RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.

This association of whose organization we gave an account a few days since, is now ready to dispose of shares. As it is with one exception (the Portland Homestead Association,) the pioneer organization of that kind in this city, it may be well enough to state what are its purposes, and the manner in which it is proposed to ... its operations. The purposes of these ... Associations are not at all speculative in the ordinary sense of the word. They are ... for the profits of their investment upon the natural advance in the value of their lands, consequent upon the co-operation of many individuals—shareholders—and the advance in values of all surrounding lands by reason of the ... population and demand for room outside of, but still near, the city. The Riverside ... Association has a fraction over one hundred and twenty acres of land situated just ... Brooklyn on the east side of the river, the nearest boundary line being about one mile from the ferry landing at East Portland. The tract lies in one strip along the Wallamet river, half a mile in length, and another strip along the Oregon and California railroad, half a mile in length, the two strips being connected near the middle by two rows of blocks (with a street between them,) the whole forming a figure not unlike the letter H. It is divided into 74 blocks, 200 feet square (with streets running at right angles) and 80 fractional lots, along the river front. The shares number 600, worth $60 per share. It will be seen that a share thus represents nearly a ... undivided interest in the 80 fractional lots. The fractional shares are to be sold off at the ... time for the benefit of the Association, ... coming in for the proceeds in proportion to the number of shares held. When all shares are taken and the Association shall determine to do it, the choice of lots and blocks will be put up at auction to the ... bidder, the proceeds of such sales, after ... the original price of shares or lots, to be divided equally among the whole number of shares. Thus, if a person wants a particular ... and is willing to pay $100 or $200 ... or less as the case may be, he pays it and takes the lot or block as his individual ... the premium being divided among the whole ... of shareholders. It will be seen therefore that everything is co-operative, and all ... tual. No man can make a dollar out of it without also making a dollar for every other shareholder. There is no chance ... the property, by some chance, should ... far below the first actual cost. Whether this is liable to happen in the case of this ... tract of land must be judged by ... but considering the steady and ... vance on real estate in this city and ... hood, and at East Portland and vicinity ... last year or two, it seems hardly ... values to go back.

In the Riverside Association all ... tions seem to have been taken to guard against monopolies of shares. No ... buy more than the number of ... three blocks, or twenty-four lots, and ... terminating the operations of the ... restricted in the same manner. The buyers of shares may pay down $60 per share, which will exempt them from all ... pay $15 quarterly with an ... share, payable with the first ... liable in this latter case to another (and only one other) assessment of $3 per share. Upon payment of the shares in full, with the ... as above, the holder is entitled to his ... and his proportion of all the profits ... from all sources. No officer of the Association ... any pay for services except the Secretary, who gets $25 per month; so it will be seen that the expenses must be light.

That part of the tract lying along the river is a high plateau, nearly level, about ... above the water. There is no part of the first row of blocks but commands a view ... of Portland and the river for miles up and down stream. That part of the tract lying along the railroad is, every foot of it, of the ... soil and adapted to gardening purposes. A beautiful little stream of pure water runs through almost the entire length of this wing of the tract, affording the means of irrigation, and power sufficient to supply pure water to every part of the whole tract. There is not a waste lot or fractional lot in the entire tract. Under all these advantages, it would seem impossible that there should be any chance of loss to shareholders. Within a year each shareholder, if he choose, may get a perfect title to as many lots as his shares may represent, or he may continue his interest, undivided, with the Association while the ... tion may exist.—Oregonian.

THE RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.

We have been led to make these remarks from the fact that the subject of making ... the outskirts of this city and East Portland, is ... discussed here among all classes, and ... "Riverside," just south of East Portland ... been established. The site selected is a tract of land lying a little over a mile south of the ferry landing. It is shaped like the letter H, one side of which, a half mile in length, borders on the river.

From this portion of the homestead, which is elevated but a trifle above the other prong of the H, ... forty or fifty feet above the river, can be had an extensive view of Portland, East Portland, the shipping, and the Willamette river for several miles. The land is very fertile, and is partly covered with light fir timber. A tract of land just wide enough for two tiers of blocks, with an avenue between them, connects the west prong of the H (which has already been described) with that on the east. This last tract of land is in a ... valley, which is now under a high state of cultivation. Through its whole length runs a trout brook, the water of which is clear as crystal. With a hydraulic ram the Association proposes to have water conveyed through pipes to every portion of the homestead.—Daily Bulletin.
